FROM YOUR GARDEN By Lyman N. White

CETTING THE MOST ...

-ASSOCIATED SEED GROWERS-Flowers in a garden are usually planned with two purposes in view. First, to make a pleasing design which will form an outdoor pictorial composition; second, to have flowers for cutting and so enable some of the beauty and fragrance to be brought indoors. It is possible to satisfy both aims at the same time.

both aims at the same time.

Even the smallest garden can be immensely improved by planning its area with due regard to the house and outside surroundings. The architectural lines of the building, being fixed, may then be the basis of the design, to be projected into the layout of plots and borders. If the garden is large enough, the lines should soften into greater freedom further out from the house.

Considerations in the choice of flowers will include plant height, time and duration of blooming, so that there are always flowers of some sort throughout the season. Other guides are fragrance, personal preference, soil conditions and the proportion of sunshine or shade.

In general, flowers should be grown in clumps rather than straight rows, with the stronger

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for he building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his initiative and will power. But the use of these gifts must be motivated by the love of God if man is to be rewarded with peace and Down through the ages, the Church has been teaching man that the misuse of intelligence and power brings on sin and self-destruction, while love-motivated use of God's gifts brings joy, peace of mind and salvation. Church attendance, prayer and worship will help anyone understand the proper relationship between God and man.

How small man seems, compared to a mountain or even a tree.

And yet, how great is his potential! Man can fashion a tree into a Man has been created in God's own image; he has been given dominion over the earth and over all other creatures on the earth. Among the many gifts which God has given to man are intelligence,

JURING this Alabama Industries Week perhaps you will not consider it immodest if your attention is invited to an event early this month. At New Orleans, on April 8, at the annual meeting of the Edison Electric Institute, Alabama Power Company was given the highest honor that can be given by the electric light and power industry to one of its members. The Edison Award is given each year to an electric company for "distinguished contribution to the development of electric light and power for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry."

Naturally we are proud to have been selected from 29 candidates in various parts of the country, all with a high standard of excellence. Particularly pleasing is the fact that the selection of an electric power company from the South for this honor is evidence of the increasing importance of southern states in the nation.

Since its beginning, Alabama Power Company has looked forward. Although the award was given for accomplishments in recent years, we look upon them as a result of many years of effort and foresight, beginning early in the century with construction of our first hydro-electric plant (Lay Dam on the Coosa River), followed a few years later by other hydro and steam plants and the inception of our rural electrification, industrial development and scientific research programs. Alabama Power Company had faith in the future then as it has now. It will continue to do its part to prove that "The Last Half of the Twentieth Century Belongs to the South."

The name of Edison* gives special significance to the award.
